

BOGA Architecture

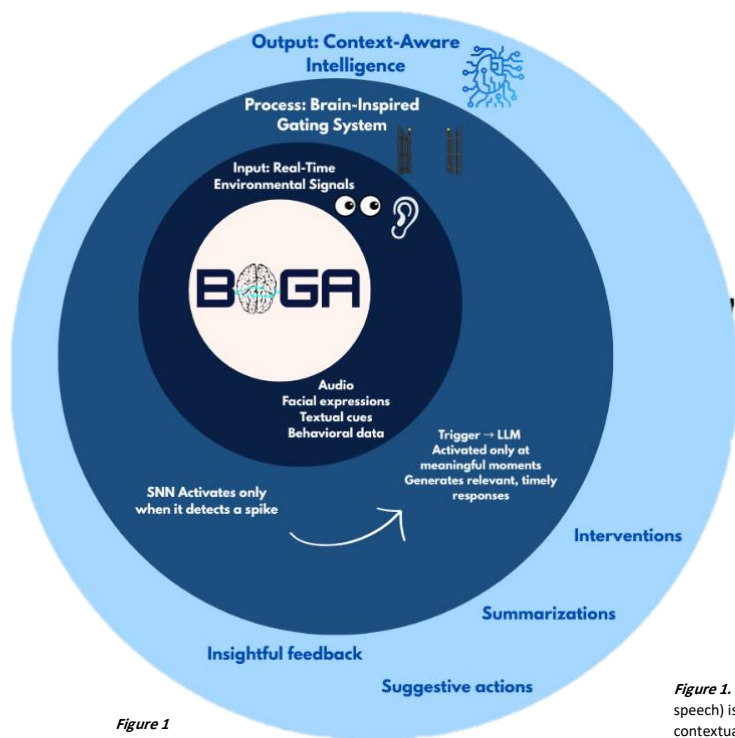

Figure 1

Figure 1. BOGA's architecture: Input (text or speech) is processed through an emotional or contextual spike detection mechanism. A response is generated only if the detected signal exceeds a defined threshold, activating the language model. This gating process is inspired by the brain's selective and event-